

A METHOD, SYSTEM AND COMPUTER PROGRAM PRODUCT FOR SECURE TICKETING IN A COMMUNICATIONS DEVICE

ABSTRACT

Method, system and computer program product for secure ticketing in a communications device. In particular, the method, system and computer program product utilizes cryptography and an external, read-write security element to securely transmit and store critical data utilized by users of a communications device. Using the present invention, third-parties can prevent the fraudulent use of third-party services without detection.